Our Website concept is based on visiting different places around the world. Traveling to each different place will be an exciting experience right through our website. You will find out good places to go and within your designated travel destination and cool facts about different places.

The pages on our webpage include a different destination. These destinations are Canada, Dominican Republic , Japan and Brazil. Each page is going to key in on one of these travel destinations and include some good reason on why people might want to pay a visit. For instance this might be the main attractions, famous dishes and cultural traditions. The intended audience of this site would be people looking to travel the world, go on vacation, or learn more about travel destinations.

 In Ukit the format utilized was the heading line feature for each linked page.The navigation menu on the home page was made using tile boxes.The scroll down button was used on each page, the divider Icon was used to separate different topics for each of the countries. We also utilized the description list feature for the countries topics. Something we had trouble doing was putting a picture behind the hero we have on our homepage. This was mainly the only challenge that we encountered.
